

Transformed business Cloud PBX

Liquid Intelligent Technologies's Cloud PBX provides all your telephony and collaboration needs on a single integrated platform that turns your legacy PBX telephony system into a cloud-based IP communications solution. Cloud PBX delivers voice, video and data communication tools into a single logical queue that is accessible on your preferred device – enabling you to communicate on any device, via any medium from anywhere.

Cloud PBX is delivered as a service, providing you with an effective and secure business communications platform without having to own, manage or maintain an on-premise PBX.

Communicate how you want to communicate

Cloud PBX Telephony and Collaboration solutions is not about creating new systems, giving you new tools, or prescribing how people should communicate. Liquid Intelligent Technologies 's Cloud PBX solutions is about reducing the communication complexities found in today's modern business environment. Cloud PBX allows you, your staff and customers to communicate, collaborate and share content using their preferred medium.

Cloud PBX allows users to communicate, collaborate and share content using their preferred medium.

The Cloud PBX services can be delivered over any corporate network, residential broadband or public Wi-Fi, irrespective of your technological advancements as a business and the integration or lack thereof, of systems.

Cloud PBX solution is hardware agnostic, allowing businesses to maximise utilization of capex on existing hardware ideal solution for BYOD support.

Always connected, secure and compliant

Modern communications tools are diverse and continuously placing pressure on the business environment to adapt and move as fast as todays communications. Cloud PBX removes business pressure by using an intelligent unified queue for all communication channels, including voice all on one platform.
